Our Issue is not that we want work.
It's that it's a bad idea unfounded..

To think that we need someone else to help us develop a new skill set is irresponsible. we are the most innovative and adaptable group of people out there. this is the fundamental difference between our perspectives we can take care of ourselves the other side thinks we need help

If you think we cant do other things you're wrong we like our jobs

You cant sell recreation!! It isnt an industry nothing is produced tangible

3 Things stemming from Ignorance + Irresponsibility

I keep hearing can't you see coal is bad they're bankrupt? — Registered to bankruptcy chicken before the egg coal companies bankrupt cuz gov fundamental difference hold one accountable or encompass an entire industry

2. idea of 3 year wait + possibly waiting for market to go up is impossible.

3. ~~[illegible]~~ When I pray @ night I thank god that he put coal in the ground, and created it with so much efficient energy. — I'm in favor for the operators on all things determination leases

socio economic issue/impact

Speak for a small percentage of the room in my situation

15 years coal miner did everything

Nov 2014 100 gone brothers worked with/for/or had work for me gone... hardest things to go through.

Nov 2015 warn notice of another 200 closed down in July.

This is because of the high costs + government fees & regs.

I came to Utah [Ethics of the company I work for Community back home devastated business calling me to try and get business 250 miles away

real estate market crash

We are sportsmen who clean up after ourselves & others

$15 billion comment money back into forest is famous

You can find all of the data you want to support either side. the bottom line is it was called a war well look at the folks with the yellow shirts there's a family behind that and that is who you're at war against there's the face of the enemy.
