To Whom It May Concern:

As an active and highly responsible OHV enthusiast, I sincerely ask that you please reconsider the proposal included in the Draft Northwest Colorado Greater Sage-Grouse Resource Management Plan Amendment (DRMP) to reduce the acreage of areas designated as limited to designated routes from 1,472,100 to 921,600. Many riders and outdoor enthusiasts like me treasure the opportunity to explore and enjoy this magnificent region of Colorado and, by responsibly staying to designated trails and always packing out what we pack in, our impact to the ecosystem is very minimal.

I truly respect the necessity to maintain and increase the habitat for the Greater Sage-Grouse and I commend the BLM and the Routt National Forest for the effort made preparing the DRMP and Draft Environmental Impact Statement; however, eliminating such a substantial amount of OHV accessible acreage, in light of the inconsequential, if any, benefit, is not the right solution. I kindly urge you to please choose an option that allows trail riders continued use of this beautiful country.

Thank you,
