Dear Madam/Sirs:

I am writing a few lines to protest the idea of Encana's plans for their gas project.

It seems a lesson could have been learned from the previous gas-oil projects in the Jonah Field. The quality of the air in the area is terrible and the effect on the wild life, that it was said would not be effected. There is always the argument of the number of jobs provided with all the projects. I don't think the number of jobs (temporary most) can justify the damage that is done and left after the projects are completed. Are we not going to see that we must think of future generations and what we are leaving them to contend with. Soon we will have no clear skies, good air and wild life aplenty. People involved in all these endeavors are not from Wyoming, nor have they ever been here, so they could care less for what is left after they have made their millions.

I hope everyone involved will take a good hard look at what is happening with all these "good guy" things that is predicted for our state. Please take a long hard look once and then again.

Thanking you for letting me have a say so in regard to this project proposed by Encana.

Sincerely,

Alice Hindman
