PART I: Proposed Activity and Justification/Need:

The Natural Resource Conservation Service (NRCS) proposes to continue the National Resources Inventory (NRI) on lands administered by the Bureau of Land Management (BLM). Under the proposed action, the NRCS would dig soil pits approximately 20 inches deep and 12 inches across at one location in the Central Coast Field Office: Panoche Hills South Wilderness Study Area CA-040-301B (no grazing Allotment).

The National Resources Inventory (NRI) is a vital component of the continuous inventory process. Since 2003, rangeland data are being collected onsite in 20 states, including California, using rangeland protocols established and researched by the NRCS, the United States Department of Agriculture (USDA) Agricultural Research Service, and the United States Department of the Interior (USDI) BLM. The NRI provides a comprehensive, nationally consistent source of data for researchers in many fields. Informed and valid decisions are best made when based upon scientifically derived data and the NRI has been developed to supply this type of information.

The NRI program serves as the Federal Government's principle source of information on natural resources in the United States. The NRI provides a nationally consistent database that allows for resources assessment. Analyses of the NRI database are useful for public policy considerations because the database:

- has a high degree of reliability,
- looks at the natural resources over a period of time, and
- permits analyses at National, regional, and local levels.

Proponent of Activity: Cheryl R. Feit, Soil Conservationist; USDA-Natural Resources Conservation Service, Madera, CA 93637 (559-674-4628 x117).
