Dear Project Manager

I am writing to Express my deep concern for the plans being developed to drill in the National Arctic Wildlife Refuge. This precious resource is much more than a few years worth of oil.

I am a biologist and run a wildlife rehabilitation hospital for a State owned facility. I see the damage done to our natural resources every day. Much of the destruction is reversible.

Humans long term survival will depend upon our conversion to sustainable, renewable energy sources. Oil is a finite resource and its use is contributing to climate change. Solar and wind energy sources have no such side effects. Please stop the plan to drill in the ANWAR. Short term gains are not worth this price.
