BLM, Alaska State Office
Attention—Nicole Hayes, Coastal Plain Oil and Gas Leasing EIS

Sirs and Madam,

You know very well the routine we environmentalists give you, something like save the wildlife habitat, this is precious land, should not be subject to drilling. Well let me tell you that years ago in the late 70s when this whole Arctic Refuge thing started and probably before some of you were born, there were a bunch of us who gathered in DC to learn about the beauty and intrinsic value of the proposed Arctic Refuge. Most of us had not heard of climate change or global warming yet and never envisioned how much that land of ice can change as the earth and the ocean waters heat up.
So here I am, 82 years old begging for you to save that land from drilling when every political voice of this administration says in essence,
"I don't care what you think or say old lady, we are going to drill anyway".
So sad, it is such precious unique land and it was so beautiful.
