Dear Nicole Hayes and BLM, Alaska,

I am writing to voice my opposition of exploration and drilling of and in the Arctic National Wildlife Refuge Coastal Plain. It's no longer a refuge once drilling begins. There are many scientific papers explaining, with data, the stress that drilling causes on already sensitive species. It is a waste of tax money to assess further when there is already data explaining the negative effects. I urge BLM Anchorage to reconsider this offensive action. What future are we leaving generations to come pursuing such short sided gains?

Thank you for your consideration.

Regards,
Jennifer Hartman
