Dear Ms. Mouritsen,

With regard to the proposal for drilling in the Arctic National Wildlife Refuge, I hope the BLM will fully study the environmental impact this program would have. We need to fully consider consequences of actions such as drilling before allowing these actions to impact the environment in ways that cannot be reversed.

I am concerned with drilling's harmful effects on climate change, on the arctic animals, plants, soils, water, etc. and on the people whose culture and traditions are based in this ecosystem.

I hope the BLM will act as an advocate for science and for thoughtful and relevant analysis and bring this information to the attention of the public.

Sincerely,
