To whom it may concern:

I am vehemently opposed to any current or future leasing or drilling in the Arctic National Wildlife Refuge. As so clearly and eloquently stated by former Secretary of the Interior Sally Jewell in the Seattle Times (6/3/18), there is absolutely no need for any such use or activity in ANWR. The only justifications are greed and short-sightedness, hardly the values we expect from the guardians of our national treasures. Please exercise common sense and sound science to resist the political posturing lurking behind these absurd proposals for development.

Sincerely and respectfully,

Charles McCabe
