It is imperative that you stop the drilling in the Arctic Refuge! There are no justifiable reasons for drilling for oil in our country's last, truly wild place -- the Arctic Refuge.

The US Fish and Wildlife Service concluded in 2015 after a multiyear review that included more than 1,000,000 public comments, including those from scientists, biologists and Alaska Native communities that the Refuge's coastal plain is teeming with wildlife: critical calving grounds to caribou, denning habitat for polar bears, and home to more than 200 species of migratory birds.

The Arctic National Wildlife Refuge is no place for oil and gas drilling -- not now and not ever. Please rethink this ill-conceived, dangerous and costly rush to sell out one of the last truly wild places on earth. As a person of faith, I believe that my God requires that we protect this beautiful planet He created and put in our care. We must not sell out our heritage.
