

CoastalPlain_EIS, BLM_AK <blm_ak_coastalplain_eis@blm.gov>

[EXTERNAL] Drilling in ANWAR

1 message

Barbara Jo Mullis <b.j.mullis@gmail.com>
To: blm_ak_coastalplain_EIS@blm.gov

Fri, Apr 20, 2018 at 12:07 PM

In this day of burgeoning renewable energy resources, it seems foolhardy to risk permanent, irreparable damage to the environment for the sake of oil company profits—which themselves will be of minimum value (about 4%). We, as a country, need to look forward into the 21st century for our energy needs. Keeping one foot in the past slows our progress into the future. We are wasting opportunities and allowing the other world countries to leave us in the dust. Whether you believe in climate change or not, the profit picture is not convincing versus potential losses.

Barbara Jo Mullis
673 W.Sunlight Lane
Tucson, AZ 85704
505-412-1603