To whom it may concern,

I find it troubling that a place that is sacred for the peoples of that land would be opened for extraction without their consent or consultation because of the greed of a few. The congressional delegation in Washington is acting out of greed. They do not speak for all Alaskans when they say we want drilling in the refuge, I do not. The way the scoping and oil lease sales were passed through Congress were unjust and cowardly. They do not represent the will of the majority but the short sided greed of a few. It is not a choice that is respectful of the Gwich'in who have lived in balance with that land for millennia. Nor is it choice that shows respect for future generations of all ecosystems as all ecosystems on this planet are tied to the health of the Arctic. I do not support the oil lease sales in the refuge, 10-02 area.
