As an avid hunter who had hunted and hiked in ANWR many times while living in Alaska for twenty years, I am adamantly opposed to oil or gas development there. There are still scars across the landscape from exploration in the 70's.

If we want to hunt with drill rigs nearby then we can hunt near Deadhorse. Being in ANWR is like no other place on earth and drilling for oil or gas there is not worth the relatively small amount of money for the permanent damage that would be done.
