Hi am outraged that this administration would extract anything from this pristine environment. It should be saved for future generations to use as they see fit. We have a glut of oil and this is one of the last great wild places in our entire world. Leave it alone, just as it is. To open this to development when we don't need it is short term thinking, arrogant and yet another gift to people who only care about their short term monetary gain. Opening this is akin to smashing your great grandmother's diamond ring just because you want to.

Sincerely, Kathy Parker
