I am writing to urge you to say No to drilling for gas and oil in ANWR.

This area is one of the last remaining pristine areas of wilderness, and should be left as such.

Numerous wildlife, including hundreds of thousands of arctic birds, wolves, bears, foxes, caribou rely for their very survival, as this is their last stronghold. This currently undeveloped area is also extremely important for the health of the ecosystem and environment.

Millions of dollars are spent by tourists wishing to see wildlife and pristine landscapes, not oil rigs, oil spills, clearcutting, etc.

The survival of wildlife, humans, and the very earth itself lies in renewable energy, not in an outdated and dying energy resource.

Please join the rest of the civilized world in being a steward of the wildlife and environment, not a destroyer of it.
