Please protect the Arctic National Wildlife Refuge from drilling. It is such an important habitat for so many species of animals we have adored since most of us were very young children. Now our children adore these animals no less.

There are plenty of other places that have already been made available for oil and gas drilling. The ANWR should be preserved as one of the fewer and fewer safe places for these awe inspiring animals.

The Arctic National Wildlife Refuge is one of the greatest truly wild places left on Earth. It's sanctuary to some of the most diverse and magnificent wildlife in Alaska -- polar bears, wolves, musk oxen and vast herds of caribou -- and the oil and gas industry should not be allowed to trample its amazing landscapes and foul its pristine air and water.

The environmental impacts from all stages of oil and gas development, including seismic activities, leasing, exploration drilling and development must be fully considered. I urge the Department of the Interior to uphold all protections for the Arctic National Wildlife Refuge.

Sincerely,

Tony Sanny
