To whom it may concern:

As a national park, ANWR belongs to the American people. It does not belong to the state of Alaska, the president, or the oil industry. It is a park to be cherished and enjoyed by the people of this country. Opening up this park to industrial development of any kind is theft pure and simple. It shows us that minority special interests with deep pockets "trump" democracy. It is proof that our democracy has eroded away and now belongs to those with money. If you drill in this park, it shows the world that America no longer exists. It also shows the world that the fossil fuel industry has no concern for the demise of the planet through climate change. It says that their profits are more important than the life of this beautiful planet. It's revolting and disgusting and out there for all to see. SHAME, SHAME, SHAME on you if you let this plan to develop this pristine place go through. History will judge you to be what you are: short sided and completely ruled by avarice and greed. End of story.
