My husband and I want to make it known that we do not want the Arctic National Refuge opened for oil and gas drilling. This is a pristine area, and drilling will disturb wildlife habitat.

We understand that the Alaskan economy counts on oil money, but right now, there is a glut of oil on the market, fracking in the lower 48 is providing what we need, and the dollar profit of what can be had by opening up ANWR isn't worth the cost. Opening up this area affects Alaskan Native communities and can lead to disruption of wildlife breeding areas due to spills and encroachment. But, to be even more honest, this is our world and we are the stewards of this world. There is no need to take away one more area of beauty and subject our future generations to a future filled with an energy source that will eventually do us in.

We say NO to drilling in the Arctic Refuge.

Sincerely,

Gail and Bjorn Sorensen
