Hello:

I am writing to express my profound disapproval of current proposals to open up any portion of the Arctic National Wildlife Refuge to energy exploitation. ANWR protects unmatched wild life habitat for a variety of plant and animal species, and is a precious part of our national heritage. The gas and oil industry has successfully glutted the market so that there's a huge surplus of oil and gas leases and permits. There's no reason to exploit this unique habitat for fossil fuels, now or ever.

I understand that there is enormous pressure to bow to Mr. Trump's directions, and that this is a very difficult time to work for the federal government with honor. However, I urge you strongly: work with your colleagues and representatives to resist the tide of profit mongering and greed. Protect ANWR for our children and grandchildren. Maintain its protections and then: Leave it alone!

Thank you.
