Man made barriers prevent the horses from seeking water in other areas. If they were unable to access water they could not have survived. Had the individual who asked Forest Service for the responsibility of coordinating water hauling for this area had any integrity, any heart, any conscience at all, these horses would have been getting water for at least the past three weeks. We are angry and sickened at the thought that these beautiful and dearly loved horses may have died when it didn't have to happen. Please keep the horses who called this area their home in your thoughts and prayers and that maybe...somehow...they were able to find water during the past several weeks.

We know that elk and deer will benefit from the water our haulers have provided. Many elk tracks were seen in the area today. Elk and deer jump fences, so they were able to travel throughout the forest to find water.
