There should be no drilling of this pristine area known as the Arctic National Wildlife Refuge. Per the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service of 2015 conclusion after a multiyear review of more than a million comments of fellow Americans, including scientist, biologists and Alaska Native Communities, that irrevocable damage would occur if drilling was allowed. Reports also show that the supposed benefit of this unnecessary drilling for profit is far outweighed by the damage done to one of the pristine and "alive" areas in the country if not the world. Please do not sell this land to bidders.

Sincerely,
Alan D. Wittenberg
