The preservation and protection of vast wild areas of terrestrial, marine, and atmospheric habitats is vital for the continuation of life on Earth. Indeed, there must be places where humans do not tread in order to permit other species of plants and animals to survive, areas where even roads and hiking trails should not be allowed, where industry and extraction are prohibited.

The Arctic National Wildlife Refuge is one of the greatest truly wild areas left on Earth. I urge the Department of the Interior to uphold all protections for the Arctic National Wildlife Refuge.

Sincerely,

Larry Brunton
