To Whom it May Concern:

As a former resident of Alaska, I know this amazing area, Arctic National Wildlife Refuge is of tremendous value not only to Alaskans, but to our country in its entirety. There is no other place like it; it helps define the greatness of our country in demonstrating how an area so precious to wildlife and to many, many citizens nationwide can indeed exist in today's world, a world where so much healthy habitat is now disappearing. Drilling in this area was not a sensible option in the past, and makes even less sense now, for many reasons. Please include these comments in the record.

Thank you.
