I am writing to express my opposition to drilling on the Arctic National Wildlife Refuge. According to an article by former Secretary of the Interior Sally Jewell, currently the gas and oil industry has a surplus of gas and oil leases. Less than half of the federal acreage under lease is producing. It seems that there is a glut of supply at this time. Certainly, the administration's goal of "energy dominance" is already being fulfilled.

More importantly, the Arctic National Wildlife Refuge belongs to all Americans. We should not give away this irreplaceable treasure to satisfy political expediency and corporate greed.

Sincerely,

Linda Bishop
