My name is Miho Aida. I am a filmmaker and worked with the Gwich'in nation in Alaska to make sure that their voice is heard to protect the Coastal plain of the Arctic National Wildlife Refuge.

I think it is extremely important to make sure this land is protected, and Gwich'in people's rights and their way of life need to come first before anybody else or anything else. We have made many mistakes to endanger Native Americans in this country and this is our chance to prove that we are better than what we were in 1850. So I urge you to protect the Coastal plain of the Arctic National Wildlife Refuge from drilling at all costs.

Sincerely,

Miho Aida
