To: Coastal Plain Oil and Gas Leasing Program

The Arctic National Refugee is one of the last areas of our country which protects significant wild life and provides recreational opportunities for the public. Oil and gas drilling in this region would have harmful impacts on coastal ecosystems with its huge infrastructure (roads, pipelines, worker facilities). It would cause pollution through greenhouse gases and black carbon. Can't we have one area protected before all is tainted?

The Environmental Impact Statement must include sound scientific information to protect the wilderness and protect Native subsistence.

Thank you,
