Dear BLM:

I cannot overstate how much opening the Arctic Refuge to oil and gas drilling is a poor decision that affects the American people. It has been proven over and over again that such industries, while necessary for the continued growth and success of our nation, damage the environment in which they are erected.

There are plenty of other areas open to industrial development, and all this bill does is make a handful of people wealthier while damaging a natural area that belongs to all Americans. The government's duty is to protect all its citizens, not to make the croanies of a few politically powerful individuals wealthier.

Please put a stop to this.

Sincerely,
Andrew Centybear
