The Arctic Refuge is no place for oil and gas drilling. This area is a national treasure and it would be an environmental as well as moral disaster to drill in this pristine, geographically and environmentally sensitive area. The most compelling reason not to drill is that we don't need to! There are plenty of other sources of oil and gas in other less sensitive and less vulnerable areas.

Please maintain the refuge as just what the word means, a REFUGE for wildlife and plants, water and land that would be irreparably harmed or destroyed by this reckless, shortsighted political gimmick. Save this unique area for generations to come.

Thank you.
