The Arctic National Refuge was established for an important reason, to be protected forever from the influences of Humankind and industry.

In a terrible bargain, area 1002 was selected for future exploration consideration. It is tragic that despite the oilfield opportunities that exist elsewhere, this administration is rushing to drill for oil and gas there. My grandfather, Lowell Sumner, was co-founder of the refuge because he understood the importance of protecting these ecosystems.

Please reconsider using this protected and public land for gain, especially when it's unnecessary.

Sincerely,

Catherine
