There is no justifiable reason why we should drill in ANWR. Right now there is a glut of energy resources, a surplus most of it coming from fracking in the lower 48.

ANWR is a fragile environment.

It is the jewel of this country.

The fish and Wildlife Service concluded in their review that drilling in ANWR would cause irrevocable damage. Millions of Americans have sent in their comments, biologist and scientists have written their reports, all say to Drill ANWR is reckless, shortsighted, and for what some political gimmick.

Do not sell out one of the last truly wild places on earth.

Sincerely,

Teresa Dix
