Thank you for opening the discussion of drilling in the Arctic National Wildlife Refuge to public commentary. I would like to add my voice to those calling for a halt. Please think about future generations, rather than just about current profits for oil and gas companies (the Alaskan tourism industry would also be damaged in the long term by any drilling). Please do not take an irrevocable step like this to remove this pristine place from our children's futures. I would ask that you consider further the environmental and dollar costs of oil and gas development here as well as the many potential benefits of keeping the refuge protected. Please, Department of the Interior, please uphold all protections for the Arctic National Wildlife Refuge.

Sincerely,

Elizabeth Dunn
