There is a long history of research on the pros and cons of drilling in ANWR, with good and bad points raised on both sides of the issue. I am AGAINST drilling in ANWR for one simple reason -- there are alternatives to ANWR for finding the oil, but if a mistake is made (like an oil spill of any size or endangering the area wildlife) there is no way to undo it. I do not believe any advantage that could derive from drilling in ANWR could ever make up what could be lost if anything went wrong in the process. This is the only planet we have. Please please protect it. Trisha Dvorak, North Bend, WA
