Nicole,

ANWR is no place for oil and gas drilling. The Arctic Refuge is full of wildlife, and cannot withstand the devastation that these activities would bring to their world. In addition, the returns will not be $1 billion as touted by some, but more on the order of $50 million according to Sally Jewell, the former US Secretary of the Interior. This can hardly justify the costly for yearsdestruction of a precious wildlife habitat that has been protected for years.

Thank you for considering a reasoned viewpoint.
