Dear Miriam Hayes,

I adamantly oppose the invasion of the oil industry into our Coastal Plain. Drilling cannot and will not be done safely there and I do not trust the industries claim it can: it is a destructive operation and accidents happen. Just look at how dirty Prudoe Bay is and the oil spills and explosions that have/still occur Nationally.

The industry already has plenty of places to suck the toxic ooze from the ground, this place, this very sacred place can remain in the hands of conservationists and the wildlife in need of its purity.

I implore the BLM to manage this situation wisely: say no to oil, they have enough, and protect the Arctic National Wildlife Refuge.

Respectfully,

Sue Bumbaugh
