Comments:

After pouring over the massive EIS in the short time it was available I can only support Alternative "A" NO ACTION at this time until further scientific data becomes available concerning certain impacts such as nesting shore birds many of which are already threatened world wide. I also have concerns over seismic testing activity in the ^{Polar Bear} Denning Areas. Having been a professional Helicopter Pilot for much of my life I worked for every major oil company from Louisiana, Texas, Alabama, and Alaska. It is obvious that the 2000 acre limit is being circumvented by exclusion of many features that should be included. Having seen impacts from the air this exclusion is not realistic.
