You are not serious, right? You really are not planning to open the Coastal Plain to drilling...are you? Truly, if this is accurate, the BLM could not possibly stray further from the best and highest use of these lands. I fully know I have no voice, but I am telling you and MY BLM this is another travesty...I am so sorry you have to be a part of this. Perhaps it's Washington that is dictating in its insanity that you open further the Refuge. Does anybody there really believe our climate is changing? Geeze. And yes, I am familiar with this area.
